CONTROLLED MULTI-MEDIA PROGRAM REVIEW

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The time required to review or playback multi-media program material can be controlled to reduce the time required to review a program. Segments of the program are indexed to mark their beginning and/or end. By detecting segments in the program material, segments can be selectively played back that are of interest to a viewer with other segments being skipped over.